

WÅGENE PURIFINER TECHNOLOGY is now owned by CRUG and becomes the part of MARINE POWER GROUP™

CRUG LTD has recently acquired 100% percent of the shares in WÅGENE PURIFINER TECHNOLOGY AS and expects major global synergies

WÅGENE PURIFINER TECHNOLOGY, which has its roots in Sandefjord, Norway dating back to 1976, has global shipping and maritime industry and Nordic land-based industries in focus for its efficient WÅGENE PURIFINER oil cleaning systems. In addition, they now have access to CRUG's extensive network of 6 sales and service centers in Europe and networks of sales offices Worldwide for global maritime customers.

Major synergies

WÅGENE PURIFINER TECHNOLOGY and CRUG have complimentary customers and product groups in the shipping and maritime industries. "Here we see great synergies in joint production, warehousing, sales and marketing, and excellent customer follow-up globally," say the two managers George Zambartas at CRUG and Åge S. Wågene at WÅGENE PURIFINER TECHNOLOGY.

Following the acquisition, WÅGENE PURIFINER TECHNOLOGY as well as CRUG, like other subsidiaries MARINE POWER GROUP™ will continue under its existing name with the solid addition to MARINE POWER GROUP™. The current employees continue in their positions and look forward to the collaboration with CRUG's manufacturing and worldwide operations in shipping and maritime industries.

WÅGENE PURIFINER TECHNOLOGY has been an important supplier to the companies of MARINE POWER GROUP™ for many years and possesses a very high level of expertise and complementary oil maintenance systems for maritime hydraulics and lubrication systems. "Our customers are focused on Sustainable Shipping and have through the use of the WÅGENE PURIFINER systems realized significant and immediate operational savings, extended the economic life of critical equipment, and significantly saved the environment by safely reusing oil," says Asta Bražukienė, Operations Manager at CRUG.

Going forward, there will be an information about what opportunities the acquisition gives us, and how we can best cooperate. A clear goal is a commitment to oil maintenance worldwide, improved customer follow-up and satisfied customers globally.

MARINE POWER GROUP™ – Your partner for marine and industrial supply, services and consultancy Worldwide.
